Masquerade.

On Thanksgiving night James Wiggins of Empire, who has established himself as a popular entertainer, will give a grand ball and supper at his dancing hall near the brink of the soft flowing Carson. Everybody is invited to be an hand and assist in spilling the spread of turkey and cranberry sauce besides being allowed to tripple the light fantastic with the youth and beauty of that port.

Turkey Shoot.

There will be a turkey shoot at Empire on Thanksgiving Day in front of Wiggins' Saloon. Distance 200 yards. Also chicken shoot with shot guns at 55 yards. You must kill the bird. Botsford, Hamilton and Blair will shoot any three men in Carson.

ALL SORTS.

Jos. A. Herzberg, representing E. Raas & Co., is in the city.

Ed. Lewison the jolly drummer, is in the city, stopping at the Ormsby.

If your taxes are not paid by Monday night they will become delinquent and 10 per cent added.

Geo. I. Lammon is a candidate for Clerk of the Senate, and Con Ahern for Sergeant-at-Arms of the Assembly.

FOUND.—A wagon cushion. The owner can get it at this office by proving property and paying for this advertisement.

Austin patronizes outside breweries so much that its local beer factory is compelled to suspend operations. Carsonites stick by Klein's Brewery and it continues to prosper.

Paupers can now be buried for 85 cents back East. This ought to satisfy the most exacting pauper. A man who would kick at a bill of that size ought to rot on top of the ground.

Cagwin & Noteware have just received an elegant line of carvers in sets, and as turkey dissectors they hold the belt. Get you gobler at Green's for Thanksgiving and learn to carve according to the laws of surgery.

It is reported that a man in Genoa who had the handling of $375 on election day, spent five dollars and pocketed the balance. The percentage of sinkages seems to get larger every year. No need of an Australian ballot next year, as the sack bearers will keep all and nobody will be corrupted.

Mr. Gillis' Letter.

In another column is a communication from the facit pen of Hon. Steve Gillis, a compositor in the Virginia Enterprise office. It is full of delicious humor, and there are also some good sized chunks of solid philosophy thrown in.

Mr. Gillis is an old observer on the political situation, and the deductions he draws are inevitable.

His letter is full of reflection, and although some of it reflects considerably on the editor of this influential sheet, that makes no difference so long as it pleases our numerous subscribers.

A man who can write as funny a letter as the one printed today, ought to write oftener, and we hope that Mr. Gillis will find time at least once a week to forward the APPEAL one of his productions.

When Mr. Gillis wishes to hold the editor of this sheet up to public ridicule, he is informed that there are no strings on him.

Tonight's Ratification.

There will be one of the biggest old Republican blow-outs in the country tonight at the Opera House.

Prominent speakers will deliver addresses, and everybody who is called on to speak will be obliged to get up and talk.

The line of march will be the same as published in yesterday's APPEAL.

Burchell Hanged.

Burchell, the man convicted of killing Benwell was hanged at Woodstock, Ont. yesterday at 8:30 in the presence of 150 witnesses. He walked to his doom without a tremor and made no statement on the scaffold, but left a posthumous statement to the effect that he had left no confession and should one be published as coming from him it would not be genuine.

A clean butcher shop goes far towards keeping the meat fresh. Flies will not gather where things are clean. M. C. Gardner, Jr., has just such a market, where the finest lamb, beef, mutton, pork, sausage, etc., can be secured at any time. nt1

As the seasons change, so does the quality of meats. M. C. Gardner has prepared his stock for such changes, and young beef, well fed and cared for during the previous seasons, is the only kind he slaughters.

A BIG SCHEME.

How Steve Gillis Proposes to Revolutionize Politics in Nevada.

VIRGINIA CITY, Nov. 11.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE APPEAL:—Cogitating over the result of the late contest for State Printer, led me into a train of thought from which I have evolved a scheme which I am sure will make our fortunes. Let me explain:

I advocated Mackey's election in this county. Result: 486 majority for Eckley. You advocated Eckley's election in Ormsby county. Result: 143 majority for Mackey.

Neither one did his level best or the results would have been greater. If I had devoted more time and money in opposing Eckley I might possibly have raised his majority to 1,000, and if you had not deserted your post at the critical moment and gone to San Francisco there is no doubt in my mind but that Ormsby would have gone absolutely solid for Mackey. Although, perhaps, it was not altogether your fault, as Deacon Parkinson increased Eckley's vote by probably 200 by rushing to Mackey's defense.

Somehow or other I am inclined to think that Eckley does not fully appreciate my efforts in his behalf. But, never mind, I forgive him, and shall work just as hard and in the same way for him should he ever come up for election again. There's nothing mean about me.

Mackey should be very grateful to you for your efforts in his behalf, for you not only opposed him, thereby making him the most popular man in Ormsby county, but actually forced him to win that prize Holstein bull. He will be lost to all sense of gratitude and decency if, when he gives that barbecue, he does not present you with the juiciest cut on the animal.

Now for my grand scheme: If you will join me we will become the political bosses of Nevada—all the same as Buckley and Stow of California. The recent election shows that if we had combined our "strength" in favor of one man he would inevitably have been defeated. For instance, if I had electioneered for Eckley in this county his majority of 486 would have been reversed, and that, with the handsome majority you rolled up for Mackey in your county by advocating Eckley, would have undoubtedly elected Mackey. In other words, if we had both advocated Eckley it would have been good-by Joe; if Mackey, good-by Will. See? Don't you catch on?

Our status as hoodoos is now well known, and my proposition is that we form political partnership, and when elections occur, go to the various candidates and threaten them with our support. They will be only too glad to put up big coin for us to electioneer for the "other fellow." Why, Sam "there's millions in it."

But, by-the-by, if you don't object, I should like to take into the firm Joe McCarthy and Deacon Parkinson for the following reasons: Joe is a young man, but he is a holy terror as a ward worker. During the late canvass he requested me to leave the Second Ward (that's Joe's own ward) to him, as he had things all "fixed." I did so, Joe evidently got in some very fine work as the ward went for Eckley by 186 majority. Oh, Joe's no slouch as a politician. As for the Deacon, he canvassed some here for Mackey, and, of course, every man he asked to vote against Eckley made a mental oath to copper Mackey. So you see they will make valuable members of the proposed firm.

If the partnership should be finally formed how would the following firm title suit you:

S. E. GILLIS. S. P. DAVIS.
DAVIS, GILLIS & Co.
POLITICAL BOSSSES AND WIRE WORKERS.
Contracts taken at reasonable rates. Now is the time to send in orders for the next campaign.
MOTTO:—"God save me from my friends."
JOE MCCARTHY. E. B. PARKINSON.
Give this matter earnest consideration and let me know what you think of this scheme. Your political pard, S. E. GILLIS.

DRURY ON HIS MUSCLE.

He Licks the City Editor of the Monarch.

Wells Drury, who was so long a newspaper writer on the Comstock, is now holding down a fine situation on the Call.

He got it in this way. He has for about two years been acting as Court reporter of the Examiner, but one day Lawrence, the city editor of that paper, had a disagreement with Drury, and after a few moments devoted to argument, Drury smashed Lawrence on the nose and lifted him over a chair. Lawrence rose and renewed the combat, but Drury, who is well up in the sciences and arts, dodged a terrible right hander and delivered another heavy inwale on the city editor's jaw.

The city editor of a daily paper in San Francisco is always a large man, who can lick a reporter if necessary. Lawrence is an athlete, and so handy with his dukes that he is nick-named Handy Lawrence by his English admirers.

But Drury was up and at him in large shape, getting to the wind of his burly antagonist twice, and then landing at the point of the jaw he dropped his man.

Drury used to lick a city editor about every two or three months in Virginia City, and understands their weak points.

Lawrence was asked to resign, and then elevated to the telegraph room, and Drury next day received a note from Loring Pickering to come and work on the Call, where he now is.

Mr. Pickering has a city editor who has never been licked, and he wants Drury to go him a mess.

Sullivan, the Iceman, Confesses.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—The Evening News publishes a statement that an authority high in Cronin prosecution circles says a full confession has been obtained from Sullivan, the iceman, in regard to his share in the murder of Cronin. He admits, it is asserted, that he enticed Cronin to the cottage, doing so with the understanding that the doctor was not to be killed, but forced to give up important papers.

The statement asserts that Cooney, "the Fox," set upon Cronin when he entered the cottage. Sullivan asserts that he took no part in the assassination beyond that of a deceived dupe.

A Singular Coincidence.

The Kansas City Gazette is responsible for the following:

All the Presidential candidates whose surnames ended with the letter n, were elected. Here is the list: Jefferson and Clinton; Jackson and Calhoun came in together, so did Jackson and Van Buren, and Van Buren was lucky in running with Johnson, for both were elected. So also was Lincoln and Hamlin, Lincoln and Johnson, and Harrison and Morton. The n at the two namers may not mean anything, but the coincidence is curious.

Free Coinage Probable.

New York, Nov. 13.—The Commercial Bulletin's Washington special says that unless the situation changes materially before the meeting of the Fifty-second Congress, free coinage is likely to become the policy of the United States within the eighteen months and there is a chance that that policy will be adopted inside of four months.

With Closed Doors.

The trial of Miss Ida Trapp, charged with threatening the life of J. Armstrong, her brother-in-law, came off in the Justice Court yesterday with closed doors. The young lady claimed that her brother-in-law slandered her, and hence the threat.

A decision had not been rendered up to a late hour.
